Investing with a clean slate

With the end of the financial year having just passed, facts and figures are sure to be on the brain. With finances all in order, now could be the perfect time to start thinking about investing in property, so we take a closer look at three particular developments that have the potential for prosperity.

NEO BANKSIDE

NEO Bankside comprises four pavilions, characterised by its distinctive external bracing, adjacent to the Tate Modern, with views of St Paul's Cathedral and the River Thames. With architecture by Rogers Stirk Harbour + Partners and developed by Native Land and Grosvenor, this 10th floor penthouse (A1001) offers over 3,480 sq ft of unrivalled space with magnificent views across London. This stunning property has been finished to the highest specification, with interiors by Waldo Works, and a main reception area offering double height entertainment space. The development also provides 24 hour concierge and security services, underground car parking and leisure facilities. Interested parties should act fast, as this penthouse will not be vacant for long.  Price £8,750,000
